Heisenburgian Love Song

I glimpsed you this morning, you me, fastening little adjustments to countless acts forever. Without each thus we'd be discrete in Death.